MARRIED UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

They get married sometimes under difficulties in California. Two young persons of Santa Rosa finding it impossible to procure a licence, hired a schooner, inveigled a justice of the peace on board, under pretence of a pleasure excursion, and put to sea. The party sailed off in to the Pacific Ocean until a distance of three marine leagues intervened between the shore and the schooner. Sail was then shortened, and the little craft tacked about, while an interesting ceremony was being performed on board. The justice having been well intoxicated with wine, was only too willing to marry the adventurous youth and maiden, and declared them man and wife according to the laws of California. The mother of the girl was furious, and applied to the Courts for relief. The Judge therupon issued a writ of habeas corpus, directing the girl to be presented in his Court. After listening to an extensive arguments of counsel on both sides, he took the papers and reserved his decision; but finally relieved the anxious lovers by deciding them lawfully man and wife. Upon what grounds the Judge based his decision, we are not informed. The law of nations commands three marine leagues from shore, but that makes no reference, certainly, to such a contingency as the marriage ceremony.

Five years ago it was a crime punishable with death for any person to make any drawing, painting, bust or resemblance of the Mikado of Japan. By papers from that country we learn that the august Son of Heaven has had his photograph taken, and that copies are selling at Yedo and Yokohama for 10 cents each. Less than a year ago, a photographer secretly took a negative of a great public ceremonial at Yedo, in which the Mikado appeared. The entire Kingdom was in a panic at once, and the unhappy artist was obliged to destroy the negative and every copy he had taken from it. Civilization takes long steps nowadays.

A Manchester paper advocates the free use of alcohol as a cure for snake bites. The only difficulty is that many would get expressly bitten in order to enjoy the remedy.
